WHY?

The Pine Ford Project, authorized by Congress in 1966, is being reassessed. The Corps of Engineers has determined that economic and physical conditions as well as the preferences of the local people have changed significantly since the original plan was selected.

For this reason, the project is being reformulated. This means that the water related problems and needs are being redefined and that a wide variety of plans (not just one) will be considered for overcoming the problems and satisfying the needs. The study area includes the Big River basin and the Meramec River basin downstream of Eureka, Missouri, as well as surrounding areas which use the two rivers (see attached map).

Although a multi-purpose lake project was originally proposed as the best solution, no special preference will be given to this kind of project during this reassessment. Other structural and nonstructural alternatives will be defined and evaluated. In addition, as the various plans are being considered, the environmental quality aspects will carry as much weight as the economic effects.

Public involvement is important to the success of this reassessment ... and people in the study area are encouraged to participate.

HOW CAN YOU HELP?

You can help by sharing your water related concerns and ideas so that plans can be developed which work efficiently and are acceptable to the people. Public meetings with small group sessions will be conducted at two
